

HATE-FREE TOGETHER

Condemn Hate Create Safety Cultivate Change

THE HISTORY

COVID-19 was a pandemic that required an unprecedented level of collaboration and contribution. Healthy Davis Together and Healthy Yolo Together was born from a community-wide desire to keep residents safe and businesses open. The program helped facilitate a safe return to life and became an award-winning pandemic response project that taught us many lessons about community readiness, response strategies and local investments. A key lesson that continues to resonate is that we are stronger together.

City
County
Campus

Building upon this great work and collaboration, the City, Campus and County are joining forces again to stand up against the ongoing epidemic of hate.

Recent incidents in our community have shown continued prejudice against groups and individuals due to their race, ethnicity, religion, ability, sexual orientation and other characteristics. We all have a responsibility to combat this hate.

THE CAMPAIGN

The "Hate-Free Together" campaign is a joint effort that provides resources, support and opportunities for actions that help to condemn hate, create safety and cultivate change.

By creating local support and accountability, we can move towards improving inclusion, education and action in our community. This includes listening to and advocating for the myriad of voices that call Davis home, including schools, religious institutions, nonprofits and many others.

We all have a role to play in the fight against hate. Join us as we combat discrimination, inspire acceptance and promote inclusion.
