I don't know my husband and I decided that we agree with the board decision but we want to take it to the city Council because I do not believe this woman will agree to it and I don't want to waste anymore time

Hi Patricia,

Thank you for your time on the phone today. You expressed concerns about the RRAC's decision being non-binding despite the RRAC agreeing that an increase would pose a hardship for you. If you would like to address the City Council and express your belief that you shared with me, that rent control protections should be strengthened in the City of Alameda, please consider contacting the City Council. You can find out when their next meeting is by visiting their website at:

Regarding the RRAC's decision, if you would like City Council to review it, please email us requesting this. As we discussed, you may also try to talk with your landlord to come to an agreement and file Form RP-05 with us.

Please give us a call back if you have additional questions.
