ORAL COMMUNICATIONS, NON-AGENDA

(25-509) Molly Laufer, Alameda, stated that she reported a swastika painted on a traffic pole on the corner of Otis Drive and Broadway; although initially acknowledged by the Police and Public Works Departments, it has not been removed; urged Council to escalate repainting of the pole.

(25-510) Josh Altieri, Housing Authority, announced the grand opening of the first affordable homes at North Housing, tours of Lynette Corner and Estuary 1, a series of community meetings for the Poplar Development, and a ribbon cutting for the City's first building-powered public curbside electric vehicle charger; encouraged the public to view the schedule at alamedahsg.org.

(25-511) Kristi Black, expressed concerns regarding chemical contamination clean-up efforts at Alameda High School; discussed a Citywide ban on glue traps for animals and encouraged more humane methods of pest control.

(25-512) Mitchell Ball, Alameda, discussed incentives to reduce use of cars to alleviate traffic congestion on and off the Island; urged Council to enforce the parking cash-out law which prevents employers from subsidizing car use more than other modes of transportation.

CONSENT CALENDAR

Councilmember Jensen inquired about the Safe Routes to School project [paragraph no. 25-522], including the schedule, and what proceeding with the projects means.

The City Engineer responded the City only received one bid for the project; the plan is to break the project up into two pieces: 1) expediting striping improvements using grant funds which will expire in December, and 2) concrete work associated with curb ramps.

Councilmember Jensen inquired whether the City expects to get the striping bid at the anticipated estimate, to which the City Engineer responded in the affirmative, stated he is confident the contract pre-negotiated prices will fit within the budget; the work should be completed before the December timeframe.

In response to Vice Mayor Pryor's inquiry regarding the concrete curb work, the City Engineer stated the City will likely set the project for early next year; there are a lot of large projects happening, but the game plan is to get the project done next year.

Vice Mayor Pryor inquired how many curbs would be repaired or adjusted, to which the City Engineer responded between six to eight curb ramps; stated some are minor improvements, such as upgrading truncated domes at the bottom of the ramp and trimming off a 1-inch lip between the edge of the ramp and the concrete gutter; others are being fully reconstructed.

Mayor Ezzy Ashcraft inquired why only one bid was received.

The City Engineer responded it was intended to be a small project; stated the concrete and striping not being separate may have been a factor; more specialty contractors could have submitted bids, instead of only general contractors; Alameda County Transportation Commission (ACTC) also has a small local business requirement for the project grant; contractors that have done this type of project were unable to meet the grant requirements.

Councilmember Jensen inquired whether the curb ramp project would be put out to bid, to which the City Engineer responded in the affirmative; stated the project is less than $200,000; the intention is to utilize a process known as the California Uniform Cost Accounting Method, which allows bid projects less than $200,000 to be approved by the City Manager; it is only a concrete project and is expected to receive multiple bids from qualified concrete contractors.

In response to Vice Mayor Pryor's inquiry regarding the battery storage item estimate, Special Counsel stated the battery storage system would be built in Rancho Cucamonga; San Bernardino County and the City of Rancho Cucamonga are the lead agencies; California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) requirements will happen in San Bernardino County; Alameda is taking power through a joint powers agreement with the Northern California Power Agency (NCPA); for the reasons set forth in the staff report, Council does not have to make any CEQA findings; if Council approves the battery storage energy agreement, CEQA is not necessary; not having to do CEQA does not mean the Council cannot consider environmental aspects; CEQA is a procedural and has exemptions; the project is good for the environment and supports Alameda Municipal Power's (AMP's) green power.

Vice Mayor Pryor stated the power supply under consideration is not expected to be available until 2029; inquired why the agreements are being signed now.

The AMP Supervisor of Energy Resources responded the project is quite large at over 320 megawatts; stated Alameda has been working with NCPA and seven other participant members; Alameda represents a small ten megawatt share; with large projects, there are long lead times to get everything constructed; the first step is getting the power purchase agreement signed, which sets off the ability to finance the project; the next step is to go through the CEQA process and supply chain, which takes several years; the project is not expected to be in operation until 2029, which is not too far outside of normal; all members decided to have agreements in place by the end of September.

Mayor Ezzy Ashcraft stated that she visited Rancho Cucamonga for a League of California Cities board meeting and saw the electric fire engine; it is great to see what is possible being part of NCPA.

Councilmember Daysog stated that he is recording a no vote on the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Electric Utility Professionals of Alameda (EUPA) [paragraph no. 25-526] since there are three things that he does not agree with in the MOU.

Councilmember Daysog moved approval of the Consent Calendar.

Councilmember Boller seconded the motion, which carried by unanimous voice vote - 5. [Items so enacted or adopted are indicated by an asterisk preceding the paragraph number.]

REGULAR AGENDA ITEMS

(25-529) Recommendation to Review and Provide Input on the City of Alameda Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer (LGBTQ) Action Plan.

The Assistant City Manager gave a brief presentation.

Councilmember Daysog stated Alameda has been at the forefront for many years and has been doing a lot already; there is much more to be done; it is especially important for Alameda to be very intentional in terms of protecting the rights and happiness of people of the LGBTQ community; what compelled him to bring this forward is his belief that the transgender youth community, or transgender in general, have been under attack; it is important for the City to take a stand in an affirmative manner and be very intentional in moving this forward; he recommends that staff begin to track the things already being done and perhaps provide an annual report about data and trends; an action plan is a great way to tie together the things already being done, but also expand into new areas; he would like all of Alameda's parks to have a plaque with a statement that says the City of Alameda is a welcoming community to people of all races, cultures, genders, but most especially to specifically call out transgender youths, as a form of education; Alameda can begin to set a new narrative and have an action plan that is intentional and something that other cities will want to see.

Vice Mayor Pryor expressed appreciation to Councilmember Daysog for doing the referral and for his comments; staff's hard work and dedication to this endeavor has been incredible; it is great that Alameda is taking deliberate actions to support the LGBTQ+ community, especially at a time where civil rights are being eroded; people must be vigilant in the commitment to see the humanity in one another, and to also take the time to celebrate being ones most authentic self; sensitivity training and tracking data are great ideas; expressed concern about mental health issues and suicide rates for LGBTQ youths; stated that she feels this is an extremely important matter.

Councilmember Boller inquired whether the City currently has a liaison, or an office, for the type of concern raised by Vice Mayor Pryor, to which the Assistant City Manager responded in the negative; stated staff could identify and figure out which Department could handle it, whether it be the City Manager or Housing and Human Services.

Councilmember Boller stated the concept of a point person who has the responsibility puts the center of attention and concern on issues at all times throughout the year, rather than only for a particular project.

In response to Councilmember Boller's inquiry regarding the legislative agenda, the Assistant City Manager stated Alameda complies with fair housing law, and fair employment; staff could do more research on non-discrimination ordinances.

The City Attorney stated Council adopted a set of local fair housing laws in 2019, which are actively enforced; one of the protections is this category, along with other protected class categories; State law is also fairly comprehensive on this topic, and covers a wide range of issues, including unemployment and housing.

Councilmember Boller inquired whether more could be done in terms of partnering with the nonprofit community in this area.

The Assistant City Manager responded in the affirmative; stated Alameda has an incredibly strong nonprofit network; Alameda is already working with Alameda Pride, and can continue to support and coordinate with the organization; Alameda Family Services also provides mental health in schools, which are currently funded by CDBG funds.

In response to Councilmember Boller's inquiry regarding plan input, the Assistant City Manager stated this is the start of a conversation; teens at QTAC, Alameda Pride, and the LGBTQ Roundtable at the School District will be brought in to continue the conversation about where the community wants to see support.

Mayor Ezzy Ascraft commended the Assistant City Manager for her hard work and getting the City off to a very strong start.

Councilmember Jensen thanked the Assistant City Manager and Councilmember Daysog for bringing the item forward, and for the thoughtful ideas about improving the LGBTQ+ programs and outreach; she feels very strongly that Alameda can and should support all residents, inclusive of all sexual orientations and gender expressions, a commitment that she demonstrated 15 years ago as a School Board member when she led the District to establish the nation's first elementary school curriculum to teach students about gay families and reduce bullying of gay students, teachers, parents, and allies; she agrees with Councilmember Daysog that Alameda should be intentional in protecting the rights of LGBTQ+ residents, especially Alameda's youth; shared a photo of a rainbow crosswalk painted in front of a mass shooting site at a gay nightclub in Orlando.

Mayor Ezzy Ascraft stated the crosswalk is not only a lovely expression of support for the issue, but it is also a really high visibility crosswalk; thanked staff for bringing the issue to Council's attention and for working with all the different Boards and Commissions; stated it is always the right time to recognize people and allow them to fully express who they are and the full and free expression of themselves, especially now, seeing and hearing some very regrettable things from the highest echelons of government; whatever the City should to stand up and say: this is who we are and everyone belongs here; she also is concerned with the statistics that show the high rate of suicide and suicidal ideation among young people who are transgender, who are LGBTQ+.

Councilmember Daysog read comments from an email about feeling seen, heard, and valued in the community.

(25-530) Introduction of Ordinance Authorizing the City Manager to Execute a Third Amendment to the Lease with the United States Navy for 3,895 Square Feet of Office Space in City Hall West at Alameda Point. Introduced.
