Turned multi-gender marked bathroom into womens only and make the men use a portapotty outside. Apparently that's how they treat their customers.

A fun place to go out on the Old Naval Airstation. Comfy patio for outside ,and seating inside ,too.

Building 43 Winery had the potential for a great afternoon, salsa music was good but unfortunately, it fell flat on its face in several ways.

Firstly, the service left a lot to be desired. It felt understaffed, making it difficult to get any attention from the staff. On top of that, the ratio of 3 men to 1 woman felt unbalanced and unwelcoming.

Secondly, the men's restroom situation was unacceptable. Relying on a single, filthy portable toilet is a major turn-off, especially considering their pricing.

Finally, the biggest disappointment was the wine itself. While I appreciate supporting local wineries, the price point for their wines simply didn't match the quality. The taste was reminiscent of something you'd find at Trader Joe's for a fraction of the cost.

Overall, my experience at Building 43 Winery was underwhelming. With better service, a more inclusive atmosphere, proper restroom facilities, and wines that justify the price tag, it could be a decent spot. However, in its current state, I wouldn't recommend it.
