Commissioner Report – Wesley Radez

Good evening, Commissioners Alexander, Burney and Robbins, Vice Chair Schwartz, and Director Long:

Since our last meeting on May 8, I was fortunate to attend the Together Bay Area convening of regional public agencies, conservation groups, environmental nonprofits, and native led organizations. Exploring the question “What can we do together?” in a complex and dynamic world, my general reflection was that more becomes possible the more local our thinking as we work for climate resilience and equity, healthy lands, and communities.

We’re fortunate to be making connections and finding ways to work together here in town that are integral to a thriving Alameda and all people who live here. To that end, I was very happy to join the Alameda Friends of the Parks Foundation for their annual fundraiser at the Harrison Recreation Center in Lincoln Park on May 19.

A lifelong appreciation for parks and outdoor spaces, leading us toward personal and professional engagement as adults, can start during childhood. I’d like to appreciate Director Long and his staff for creating opportunities for Alameda’s youth, such as the counselor in training program my son participated in this spring, to continue this important work.
