The Social Service Human Relations Board of the City of Alameda (SSHRB) advises the City Council regarding social service and human relations needs of the community. Members are appointed by the City Council to serve four-year terms.

The Board is charged with creating an environment that will encourage and bring about mutual understanding, respect, and goodwill among people in the community and assessing and facilitating the provision of social services to meet community needs. Occasionally the Board creates special Workgroups to facilitate community cooperation to meet these objectives.
