

1525

1523

1521

Submitted by Danai Land
2/11/2025
Oval Communications

ARBOR ST

PACIFIC AVE

JAY ST

20 ft Red
Lost parking

Firehydrant

20 ft Red
Lost parking

20 ft Red
Lost parking

20 ft Red
Lost parking

16 ft

8+ ft

8 ft

6-7 ft

25

23

1521

Alameda Native History Project

2201 Shoreline Drive #6334
Alameda, California 94501
(510) 747-8423
info@nativehistoryproject.org

4-
non-Agenda

July 1, 2025

Remarks Delivered during Open Comment at Alameda City Council Meeting

Hi, I'm Gabriel Duncan. I run the Alameda Native History Project.

This summer, we're launching the 2025 Acorn Granary Challenge—a hands-on community build where we'll construct a traditional Native American acorn granary using natural materials and Indigenous design.

These granaries were used for thousands of years to store acorns through the winter. Acorns were the most important traditional food in California, and this project is about restoring that knowledge and rebuilding food sovereignty through real, on-the-ground work.

The first sessions are happening at APC's Farm2Market in Alameda on Sunday, July 13 and Sunday, July 20, from 1 to 4 PM. We're partnering with Farm2Market again, and this year we're bringing in Alameda Point youth to help lead the build, which is a big step.

The event is free, open to all ages with supervision, and it's a clean and sober space. But space is limited—and only registered guests will be allowed to participate.

You can learn more and sign up at acorns.nativehistoryproject.org.

This is just the beginning. The Acorn Granary Challenge will also be happening at other sites across Alameda and Contra Costa Counties throughout the season.

Hope to see you there.

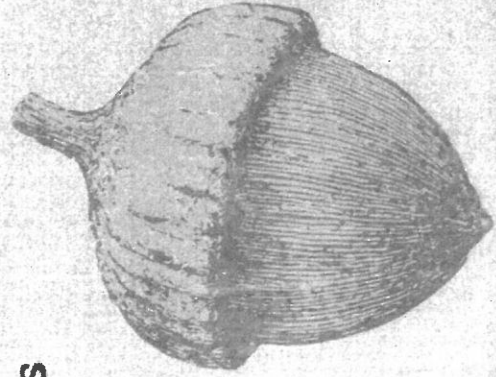

Submitted by Gabriel
Duncan
7/1/2025
Oral Communication

SECOND ANNUAL
ACORN HARVEST

STARTS AUGUST 2025

- harvest acorns
- make acorn flour
- hands-on experience
- reopen indigenous foodways
- provide

culturally appropriate food
for local tribes
& indigenous communities

ALAMEDA NATIVE
HISTORY PROJECT'S

Acorn Granary Challenge

July 13 & 20, 2025

1pm - 4pm

- Free
- All Ages
- Clean & Sober Event

REGISTER

ALAMEDA NATIVE HISTORY PROJECT