Budget Overview

- Overall, City remains in a strong financial position due to significant residual fund balance and stable property tax revenues
- Operating revenues fully cover operating expenditures, including both baseline and new requests
- The Biennial Budget is “tight” due to a number of factors resulting in increased expenditures, as well as conservative revenue forecasting due to uncertain macro economic and development market conditions
- The Budget includes use of substantial residual fund balance to cover capital improvement program and one-time requests during constrained fiscal circumstances
