Oakland/Alameda Freeway Access Project

PROJECT DESCRIPTION | March 2017

The Alameda County Transportation Commission (Alameda CTC) is currently working to identify potential freeway access and arterial roadway improvements as part of the Oakland/Alameda Freeway Access Project (OAFAP), formerly the Broadway-Jackson Interchange Improvements Project. Today, motorists traveling between the I-880 and I-980 freeways and the Webster and Posey Tubes which connect the cities of Oakland and Alameda, must travel along congested city streets causing heavy bottlenecks, long delays and potential vehicle-pedestrian-bicycle conflicts. Within the Project Study Area shown (Figure 1), potential alternatives to address access, operations, safety and connectivity between downtown Alameda and Oakland, Chinatown and the Jack London District will be identified and evaluated.

PROJECT SPONSOR | Alameda CTC

PROJECT STATUS | The project is currently in the preliminary engineering and environmental phase.

Since early 2016, key stakeholders and partner agencies have been engaged in discussions to identify improvement alternatives to move forward into environmental review. The project team will be hosting a public scoping meeting in late spring/early summer 2017 as project development progresses. For additional project details, visit the project website at:
