Summer 2019 Junior Golf Camps

Alameda is proud of its legacy of having one of the top junior programs in Northern California. Some of our juniors have gone on to college careers and even the PGA Tour. We offer different programs to get your children started in a game for a lifetime. For first-time golfers or intermediate players, we have junior camps. For tournament players or future college golfers, we have an elite junior golf camp this summer. All programs are open to both girls and boys. Scroll through the entire page to see more information on each of our junior programs.

Corica Park's Elite Junior Summer Camp registration is now open! Led by Tour professional Brad Marek and PGA Teacher of the Year Eric Jones, these 2-day intensive camps are for advanced tournament players and juniors on track to play college golf. Camps are modeled after the best college programs in the country and feature a TrackMan Combine, Short Game Combine, full-swing analysis, and on-course playing lessons each day. Juniors will learn the fundamentals of scoring, strategy, and mental skills necessary for success in junior tournaments and college golf. Camps include college-style practice planning templates as well as an overview of the college recruiting process and new NCAA rules.
