Mayor and City Council, given that now everyone is supposed to be sheltered in place, this poses a problem for signature gathering for our petitions: "Initiative to keep safe areas in Alameda" and "Initiative for expansion of open space at Crab Cove" for the November general election. In person signature gathering is not a reasonable option and we would like City of Alameda's approval to use the print and mail option for signature gathering where people could certify that they are the circulator of the initiatives and also sign the initiatives. In the midst of the coronavirus pandemic, perhaps another option can be the use of electronic signatures? Thank you.
